FASHION STUDIES

Streaming Video Collection Highlights:

The History of Style, Seasons 1–3:

39 episodes covering a variety of topics in recent fashion history, including men's fashion, style of the 1990s, footwear, bridal gowns,

and controversial moments in runway history.

Videofashion Monthly (1981–1998):

a fashion magazine on video, covering more than 200 fashion shows a year and reporting from the world's fashion capitals. Exclusive interviews cover the how-tos of fashion and lifestyle.

21st Century Designers, Seasons 1–4:

more than 50 videos showcasing the prolific artistry, signature trademarks, and brilliant minds behind fashion's most venerated 21st-century designers, including Ralph Lauren, Michael Kors, and Stella McCartney.

Designer Marathon, Seasons 1–6:

more than 75 episodes that map out career timelines of influential designers and design houses—including Dolce & Gabbana, Prada, Oscar de la Renta, Vera Wang, Calvin Klein, and Tommy Hilfiger—as they build their far-reaching fashion empires.

21st Century Designers —Videofashion Collections, Seasons 1–13:

more than 300 videos offering a front-row seat to the creative genius of New York, London, Milan, and Paris Fashion Weeks that set the fashion trends for spring/summer and autumn/winter. Videofashion Collections covers each major fashion show, complete with extensive and unparalleled VIP access to and interviews with designers, fashion editors, makeup artists, models, fashion luminaries, and celebrities.

A Stitch in Time:

a 26-part series that looks at the history of 20th-century fashion in a unique way: through different garments and fashion trends that are explored in a tongue-in-cheek, yet informative, manner. With the help of rare archival images, the series shows how political, technological, cultural, and social changes have each affected the way we dress.
